RECORDING
THE GOOD TIMES

There are many ways to record events. We are fortunate enough to have the means to print our daily activities in a book of this quality. All aspects of student life have been tied together with our theme "Recording the Good Times." We hope this book records the good times, the memories, the friends and the teachers we have shared.

This edition provides patrons, senior quotes, polls and numerous candid pictures to help you keep the memories alive. This year we had the addition of the ninth grade class to our student body. Therefore, this is one reason this volume is the largest ever at West.

We hope that this year's book will serve as a reminder of your high school memories and will remain a cherished treasure forever.

CLOCKWISE starting left: West fans support their team in a colorful way even on a dreary day; running the gauntlet; Kristie at the rally; team work, mud and a rainy day is the story behind the homecoming game; shout if you're proud of West; have you ever seen them look so good?

CLOCKWISE starting above: lady in red shows her pearly whites; the homecoming king and queen, Jenny and Tom; John catches a moment by himself; get a little closer, don't be shy; smile — everyone wonders what you're up to.

CLOCKWISE starting left: Twist and shout; friends let the good times roll; a couple in their glory days.

CLOCKWISE starting above: you can see my work when it's done; hey babe, step into my office; if guys could only be the cheerleaders; what are you looking at?

CLOCKWISE starting above: these lunch/cram sessions make me hungry; "change this plus to a minus . . . and it'll be no big problem"; okay, stop smiling — what's in that locker?; "hurry with the picture. I have studying to finish before the game."

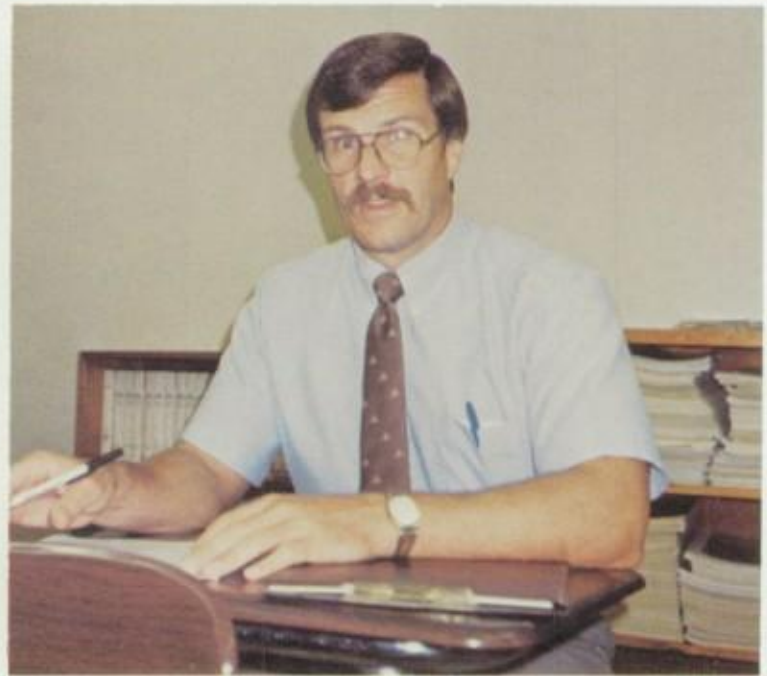

CLOCKWISE starting left: when you're good, you're good; West dominates the play; when it's this close, I'll use my face for the block; oh, what a feeling . . . Toyota.

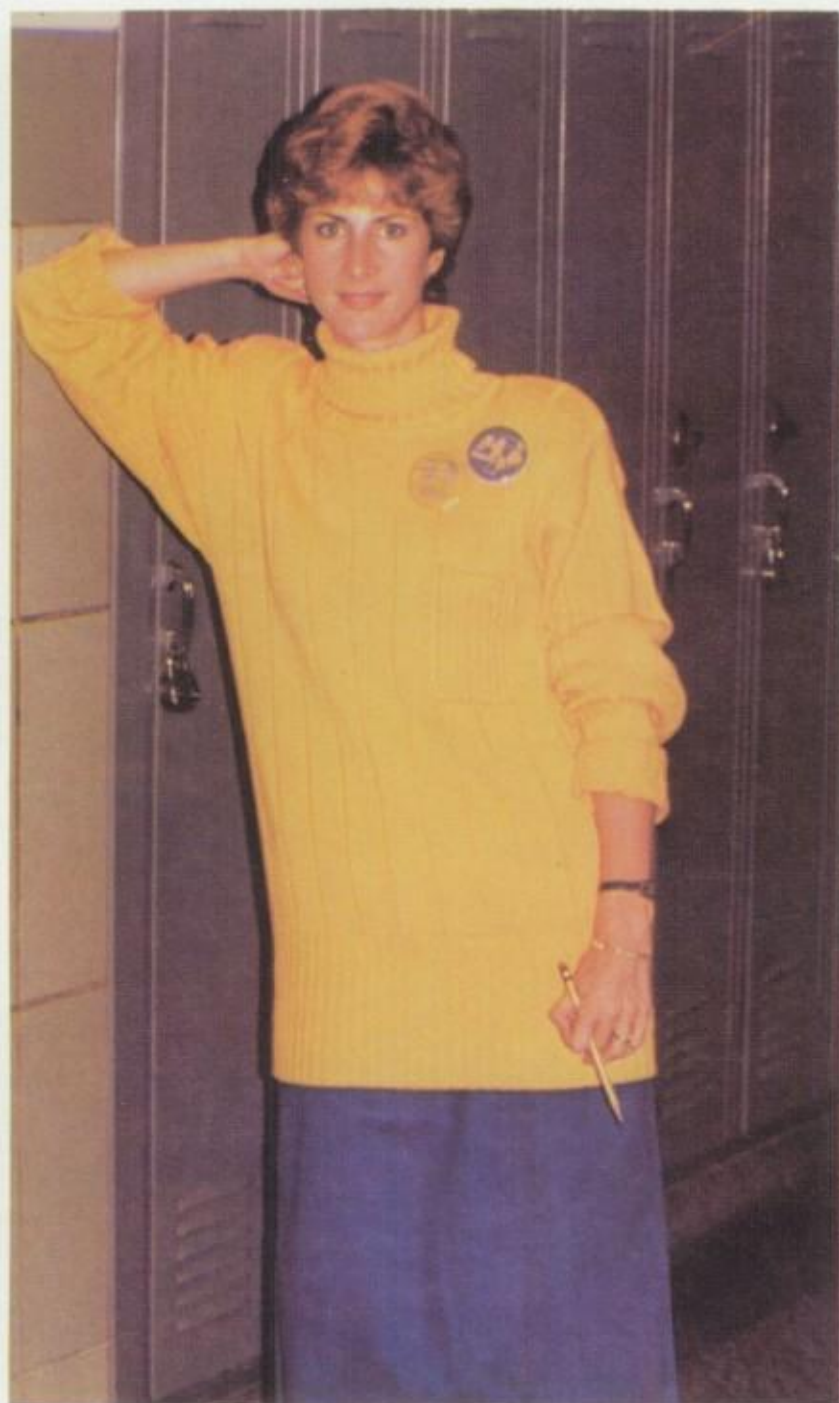

Everyday Life

CLOCKWISE starting right: there's always: dishes to be done; clay to be molded; walls to hold up; homework to finish; laundry to be done.

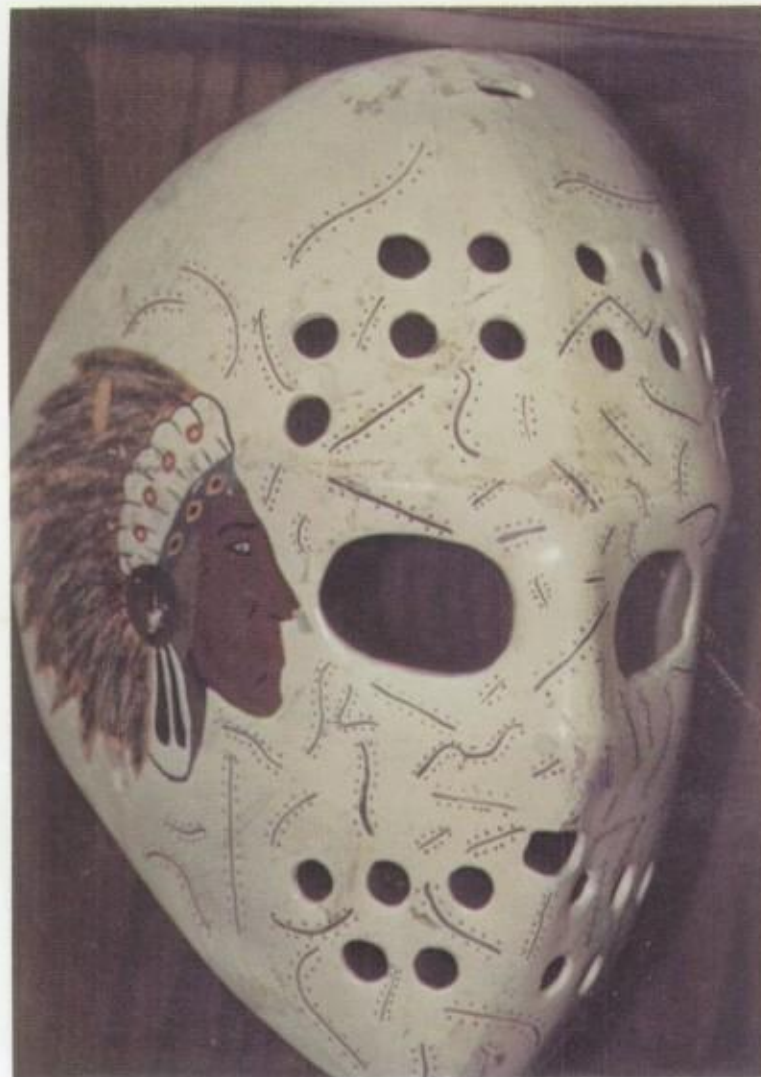

CLOCKWISE starting left: first in line for a container; of the six, guess who watches Benny Hill; go away, I want to open my locker; hands behind your head and up against the door; they teach this at West?

CLOCKWISE starting above: I always enjoy a comedy; Mrs. Kellner shows off her school spirit; you want us to what with that fire alarm?!; all in a lab day; hands on your hips, ready, begin.

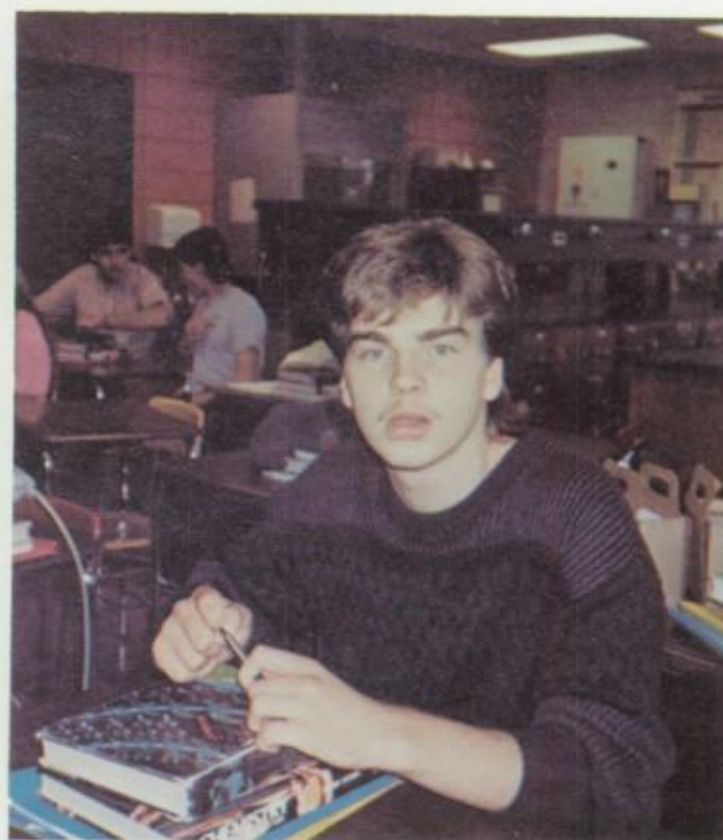

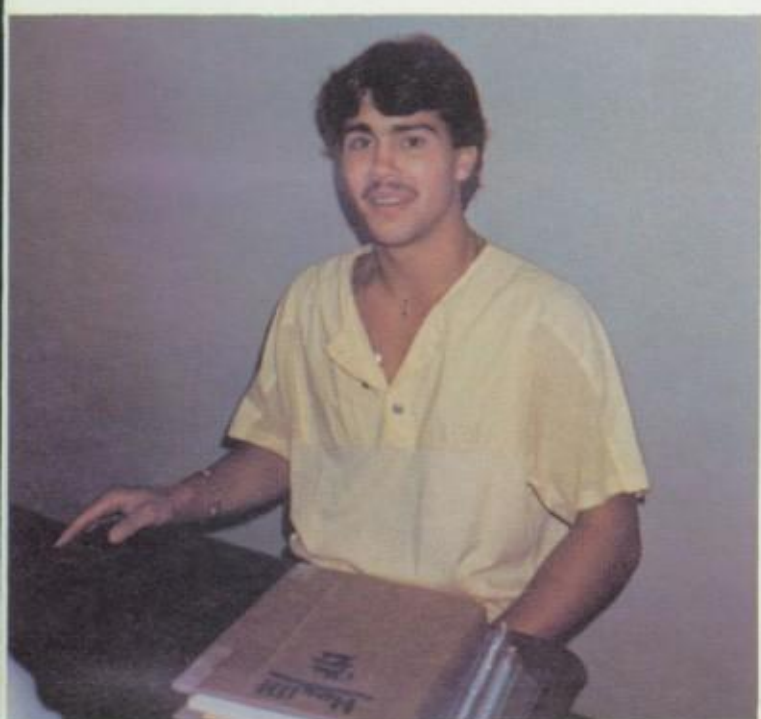

CLOCKWISE starting left: the book store crew trying to attract business; what page was that again?; Dawn and her shadow; friends stick together; get closer, I promise I won't bite; she bought her sweatshirt, how about you.

CLOCKWISE starting above: it's a small world after all; look who just jumped out of the locker; "check out this new centerfold"; "hey, I know you, aren't you from year-book staff"; Debbie's right West IS best; "don't we look alike in our blue and gold?"; Jason lives at West Senior.

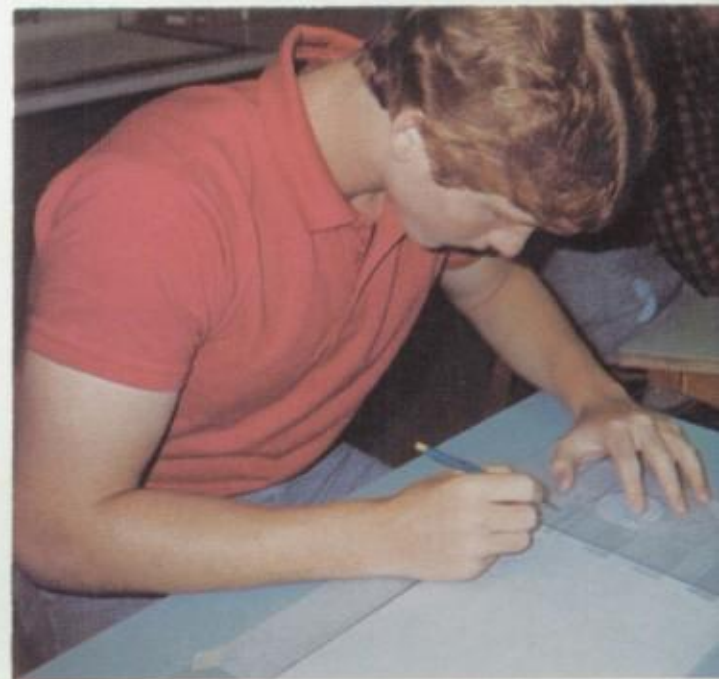

CLOCKWISE starting above: "whatever it is, I didn't do it"; "Psst . . . Khang! they'll never know it's you"; "come on not me AGAIN!"; "yes, I'm your sub today"; Kevin now is not the time to sleep; "what! I thought this was table six."

CLOCKWISE starting above: "wait just one minute there"; "is there film in that camera?"; "hey, the pig is still up there"; "ain't it so Mrs. W. teach us real good English?"; "We're all part of the Pepsi generation"; Doug diligently does drawing; sorry we couldn't make the space any wider but you could've smiled anyway.

Dedication

Acenes 1987 is dedicated to Mr. Frank Ventura.

Mr. Ventura has been an assistant principal at West for 20 years. While at West Sr., he has coached Varsity Basketball, Volleyball, Bowling, and J.V. Football. Before going into administration, Mr. Ventura taught Health and Physical Education from 1957-1967.

Mr. Ventura attended Cortland State, transferred to U.B., and graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. He received his Masters Degree in 1967, from U.B. He served in the U.S. Navy during the end of the Korean Conflict.

Mr. Ventura has five children. He and his wife, Sally, have been married for over 30 years. His eldest daughter coaches cheerleading at West.

Mr. Ventura enjoys his job, and really likes dealing with kids — even though he's not always dealing with West students under the most favorable conditions!

Mr. Ventura is truly someone we all look up to and respect. He has given West Senior so much, that the Yearbook Staff believes he truly deserves this dedication. The students and faculty at West can be very thankful to have such a fine assistant principal.

Teachers Recognized for Years of Service

On November 21, 1986 Student Council presented all the faculty with red carnations for their service and dedication. Some teachers were honored at a reception in the cafeteria. Mr. David DeNicola was recognized for 25 years of teaching. The teachers recognized for 15 years of service this day were the following: Charles Bauer, Elizabeth Grapes, Robert Miller, Earl Boyer, James Hilty, Margaret Mount, Anthony Di Rienzo, William Kaster, Deborah Neubeck, Kathleen Dischner, Peter Mascia, Kenneth Rayner, Marg Fitzgerald, Beverly McMillan, Edward Weidenbach.

CLOCKWISE starting above: Miss Fitzgerald enjoys some adult conversation; Mr. Miller tries to make his drink last; Mr. DeNicola contemplates about joining in on the festivities; Mrs. Grapes seems to like the change in routine; Mr. Mascia takes time from the food to pose for a picture; Mrs. McMillan listens intently.

Senior Officers

This year's Senior Class showed its true school spirit through many fund raisers and activities. Besides candy sales, the Seniors ran the concession stand at all home Indian football games. They also ran Carnation Day and the annual Snowball, held on Feb. 14. All of the money raised was used to finance the Senior Prom and to buy a memorable Senior Class gift.

The Seniors showed their spirit by taking 1st place for the Best Float at the Homecoming Parade and 1st place in school spirit at the annual East-West Basketball game.

The Senior Prom was held on Friday, May 22 at the McKinley Park

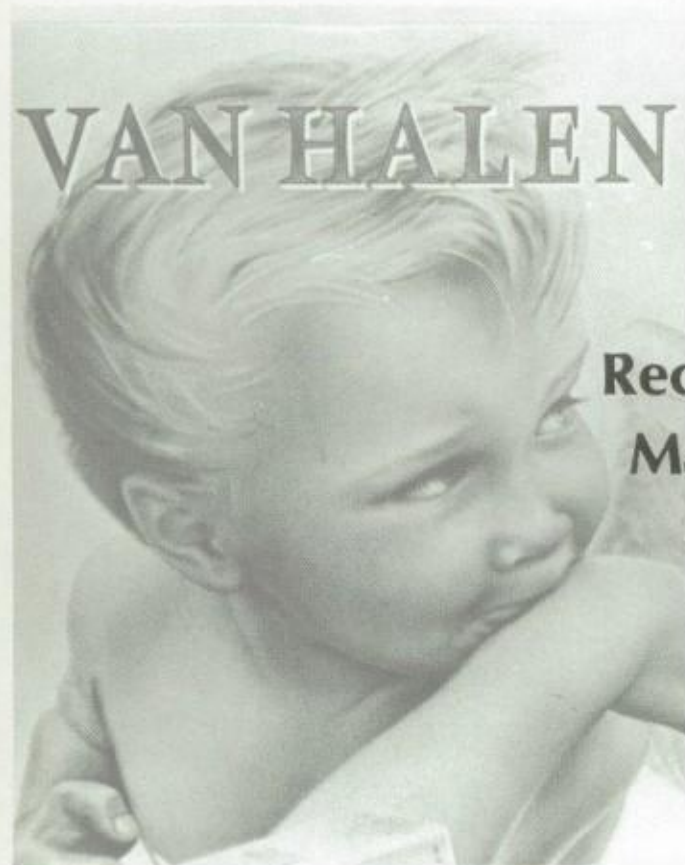

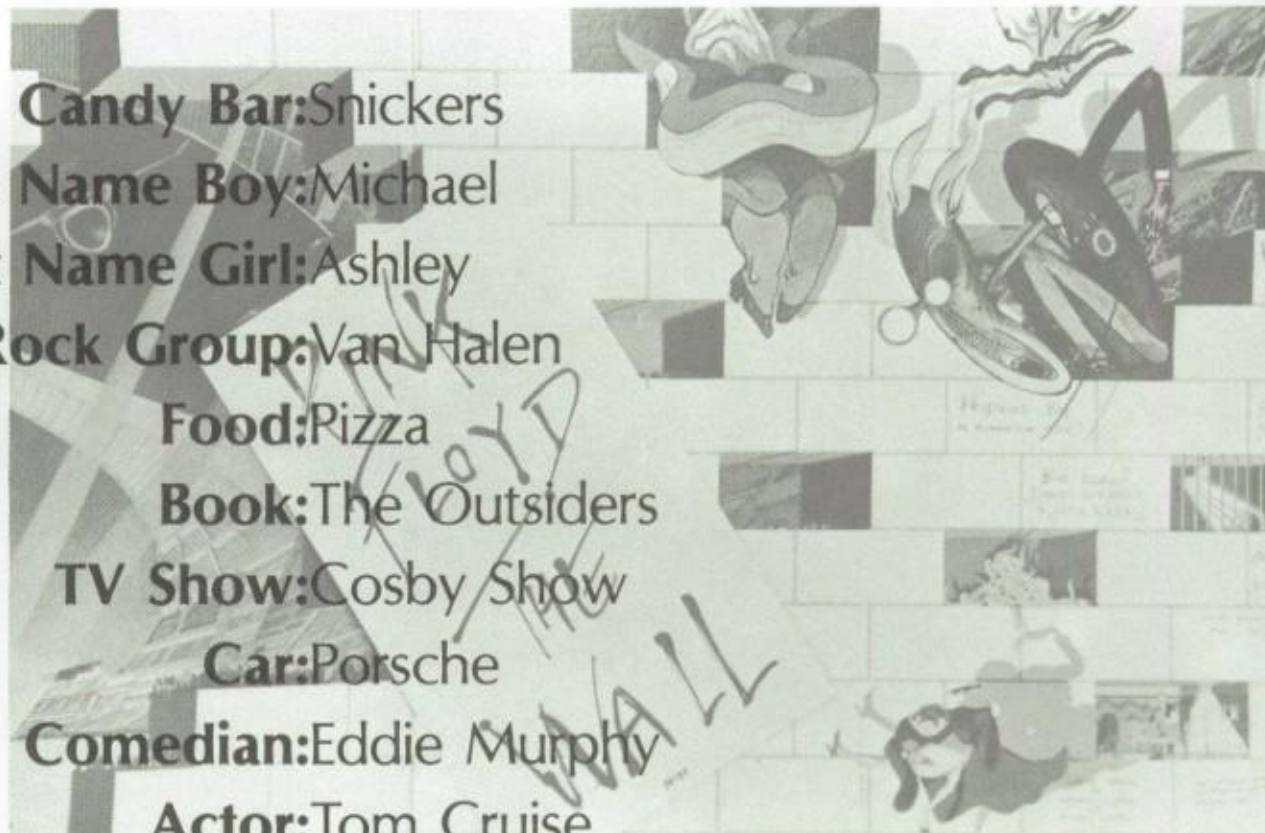

Inn. Graduation will take place on Tuesday, June 16th at Kleinhan's.

Seniors' Advice to our Teachers

Our advice to the faculty is to try to change the atmosphere of the classroom to overcome boredom. We suggest trying different teaching techniques, and avoiding repetition. It would make the period go by faster for both teachers and students.

Colleen & Jim

Every once and awhile stop and take a look around at school. It may not be the most important thing in our life at the moment. Don't take us so seriously. We are only joking. But then at other times you don't take us serious enough.

Communicate with your students. One way to make a student understand is to think the way he does. Then present your ideas in that manner. I forecast a better teaching environment in the classroom if we could communicate on the same level.

Gil Esch

My advice to you is to share more advice of your own with us. Give us more real life situations to prepare us for what is ahead of us in the near future. I think it would help us learn the things we need to know in order to survive better in the world.

Jim

Do the best you can when teaching, because we're the generation that will take care of you when you retire.

Advice to teachers: Be friendly and make learning fun. Treat all students as equals and care about them as a person, for someday they will be where you are now.

The best liars are the most creative students.

Don't let the little, wrong things students do bother you too much.

Keep striving to be a better teacher by giving less homework and making your classes more interesting.

R.R.

Set a good example for your students to follow. Try to understand every student is not the same. Give different individuals the understanding and the ability to achieve at his or her own level.

Set your standards and stride to make each student the best they can be. Don't ask for too much, but don't take too little, because you know that in the long run, it's for their own good.

Jacqueline Gregoire

It is necessary for the teachers to be a little more strict so that the students don't fool around too much.

Teachers should not be so pushy about closing the bathrooms so quickly.

Eat your Wheaties in the morning!

He who teaches his/her best, gets one of life's rewards — an educated student.

Teachers should be more understanding when we don't understand.

Be understanding and share your knowledge with the younger generation so they can be better equipped to handle life. Don't emphasize the ignorance of your students because you were once in their shoes; everyone has to begin somewhere.

When ever you feel like giving up . . . remember, there's someone out there depending on you to shape their life . . .

A student only expects from a teacher what a teacher expects from a student.

Remember always to keep your good humor and keep on teaching well.

Never lose faith or become discouraged, help other minds to grow as yours has.

A lot of work, persistence, and uncreative teaching will gain you no friends. Humor and a smile will earn hard work and friends.

Before answering a student's question, be sure you understand what he's asking and be patient in explaining, it takes time. Don't ridicule a student.

Keep your sense of humor.

Avoid going off on tangents.

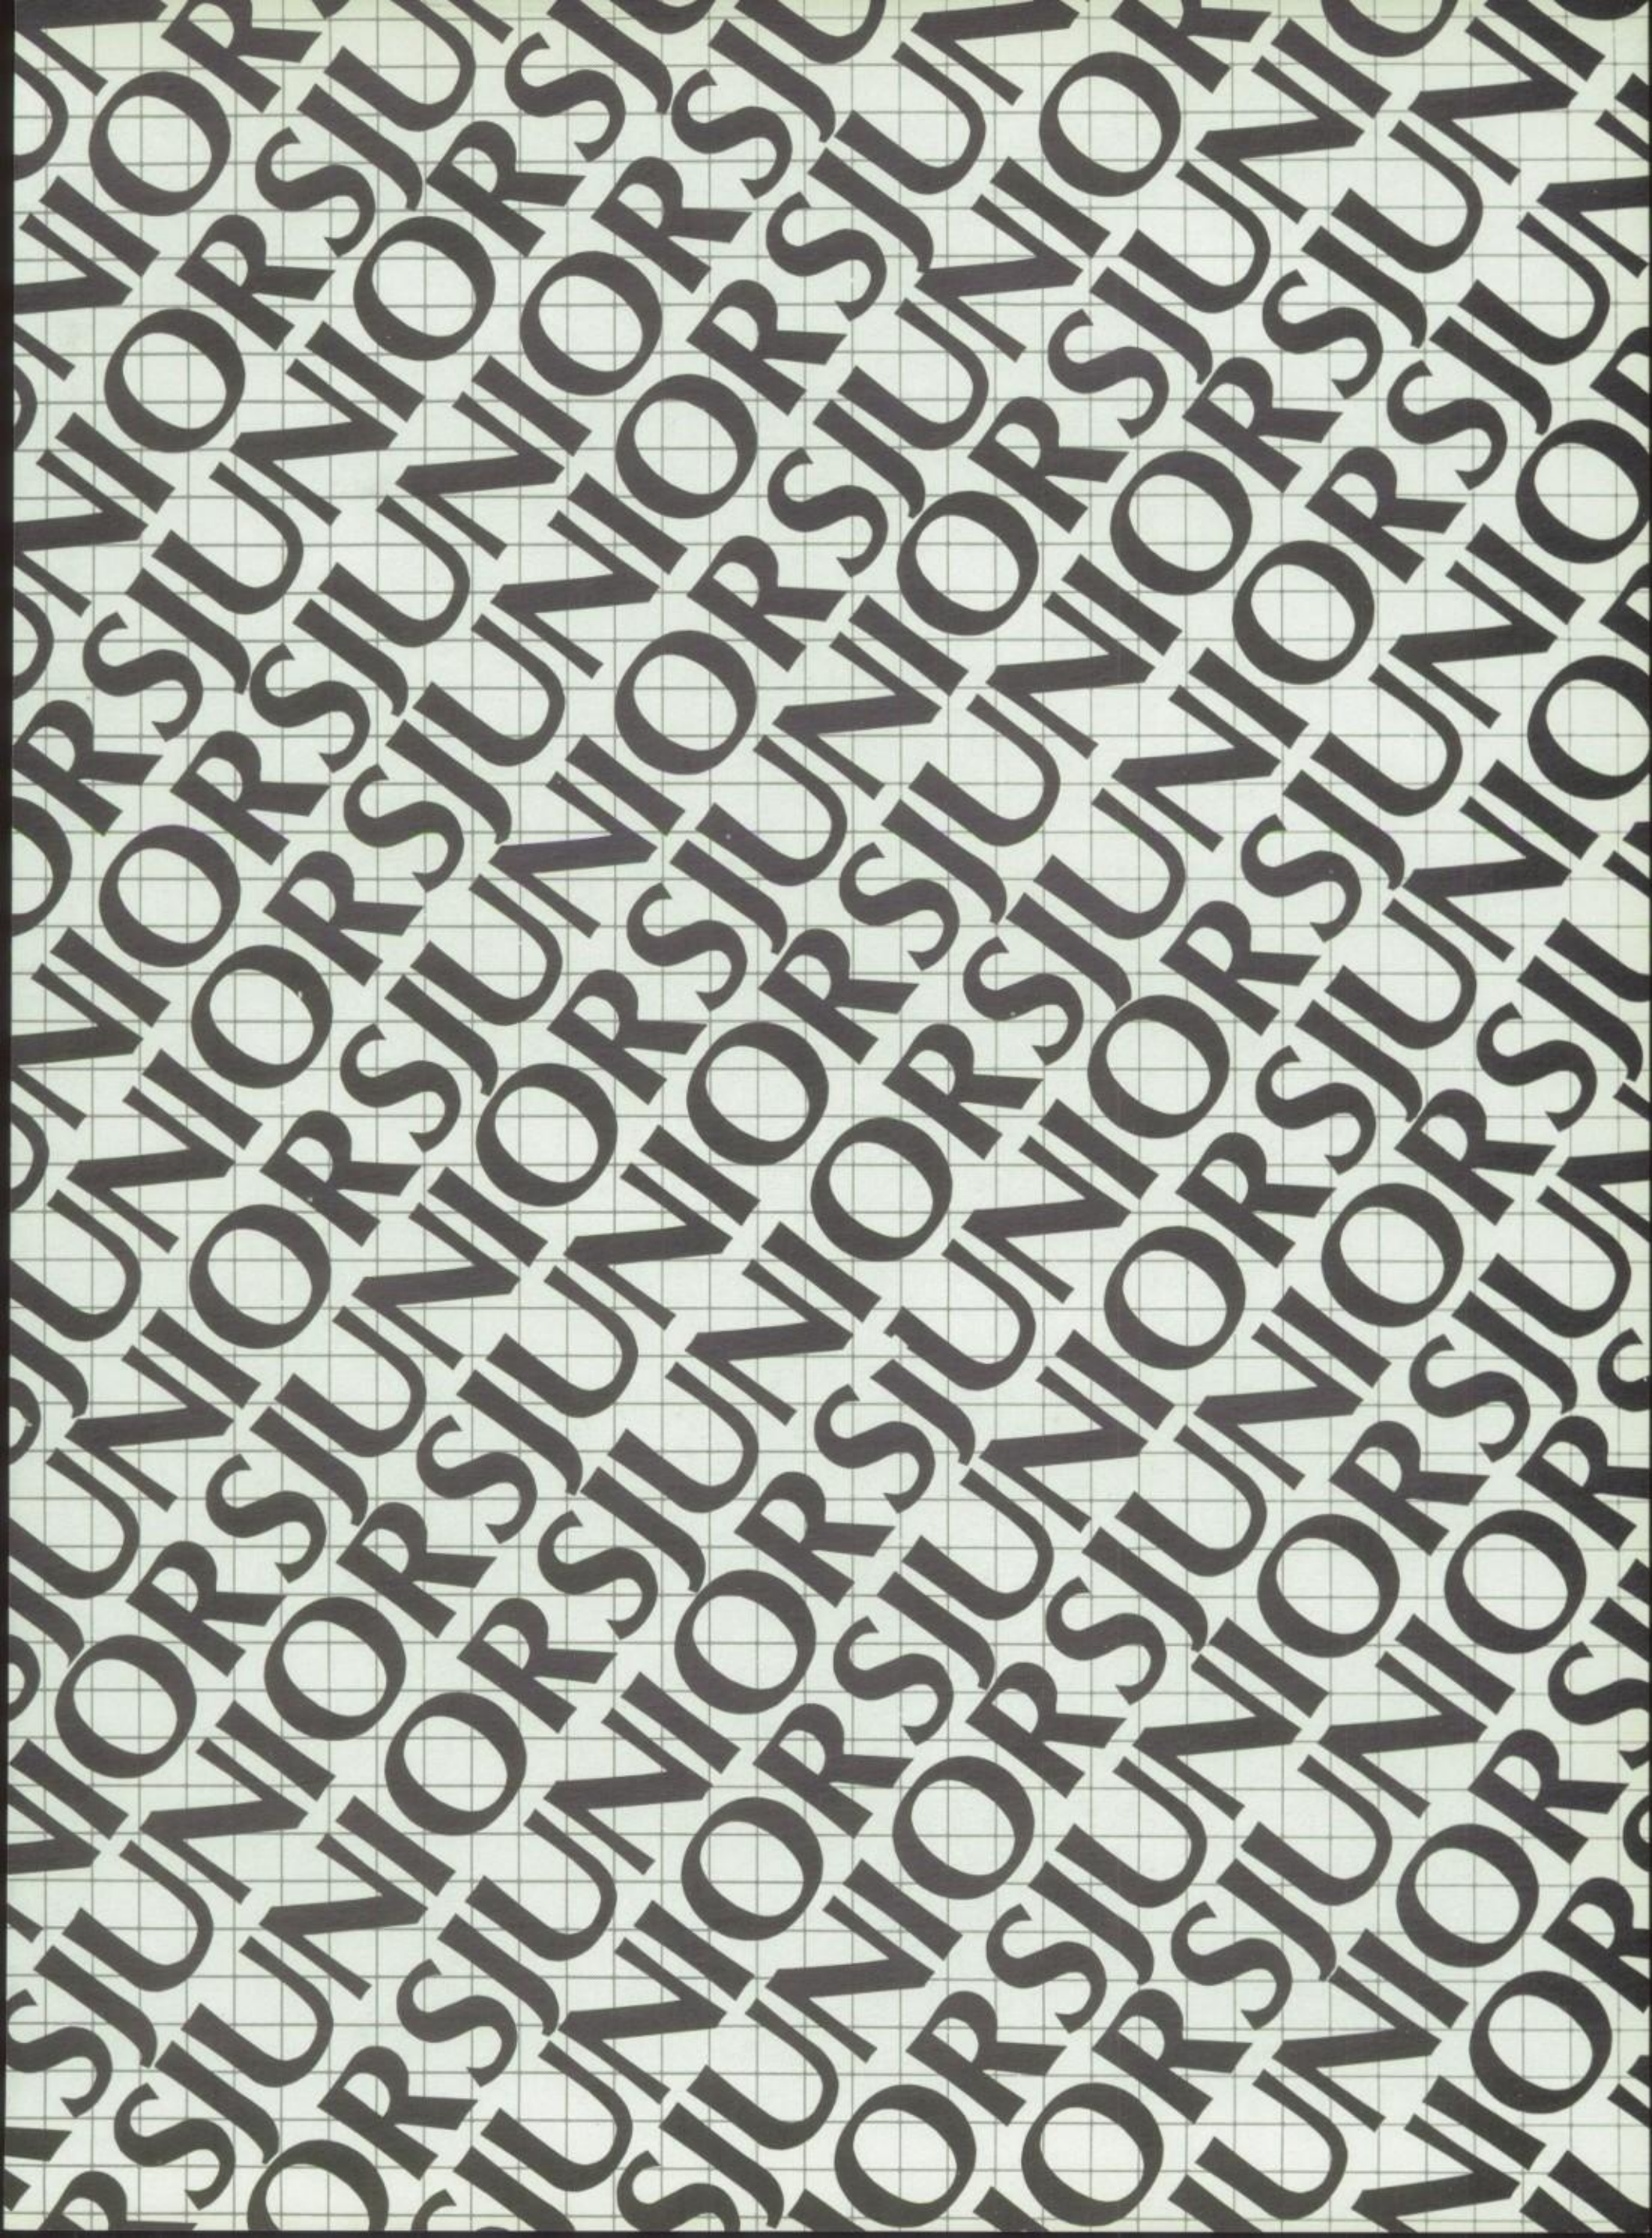

Do not make any popcorn in New Wing Faculty Rooms until all students have had lunch.

Spare us the sarcasm.

Before giving assignments, consider "Is this homework really necessary?"

Don't be intimidating.

Junior Officers

The Class of 1988 did very well this past year. Under the direction of the class officers pictured above; Dawn Mecca (President), Joe Cantafio (Vice-President), Lori Whitcher (Treasurer), and Nancy Doering (Secretary) the Junior Class sponsored several fund raising activities. The Junior Prom was held at the Pellemwood House on May 8th. The class is looking forward to making their senior year at West one of the most memorable.

The advisors pictured are Mrs. Denise O'Shei and Mr. Dennis Wojtaszczyk.

Say it isn't . . . Monday
 Wake me up before . . . the buses leave
 Hard to say . . . I'll study for Physics
 All I need is a miracle . . . to pass
 Friends & Lovers . . . will never be forgotten
 Everytime you cry . . . I'll try to make you smile
 I'll die for . . . the weekend
 We got the beat . . . for West's teams
 Endless . . . study halls
 Help me . . . someone; anyone?!
 Careless whispers . . . could get you in trouble
 Rumors . . . get around
 Don't be sad . . . one more year ain't bad
 I can't believe . . . it's senior year
 Walk like a . . . senior
 It's hip to be . . . in school
 Just pull a string and . . . all the books fall down
 Help, help, help me . . . with the answer on the test
 We don't need no . . . homework
 We can't get no . . . date for the prom
 Stairway to . . . the basement
 We don't need no . . . education
 Gotta get out of . . . this school
 Sharp dressed . . . teacher?
 Live for . . . lunch
 Dancing on the . . . desks
 School makes the world go round
 Nasty, nasty . . . teachers
 Pet Shop Boys . . . West Senior girls
 Take me home . . . I don't want to stay here
 Stuck with . . . trig
 Don't stop . . . the halls will get crowded

Take a moment, and look into, the mirror of life & find
All the memories from your past,
Present in your mind.
Now looking in this mirror,
Reflect upon the years.
Recall each separate memory,
The laughter and the tears.

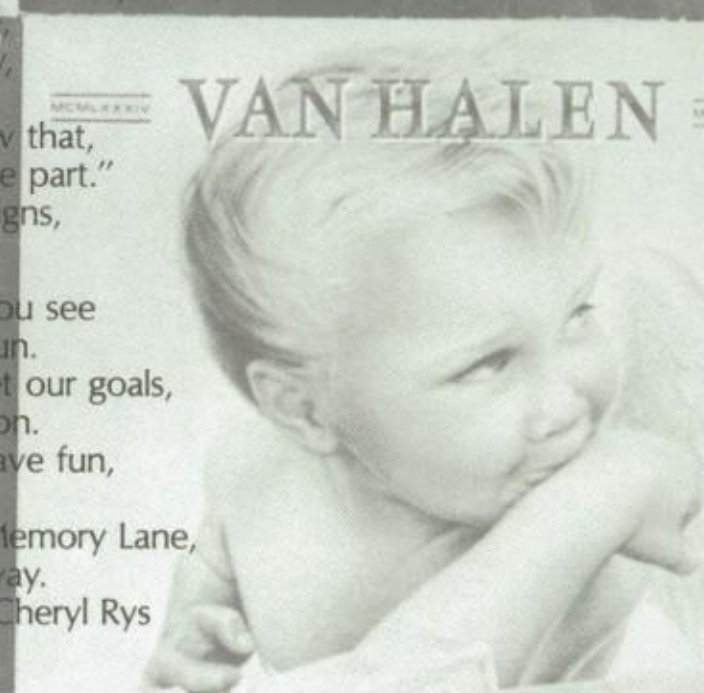

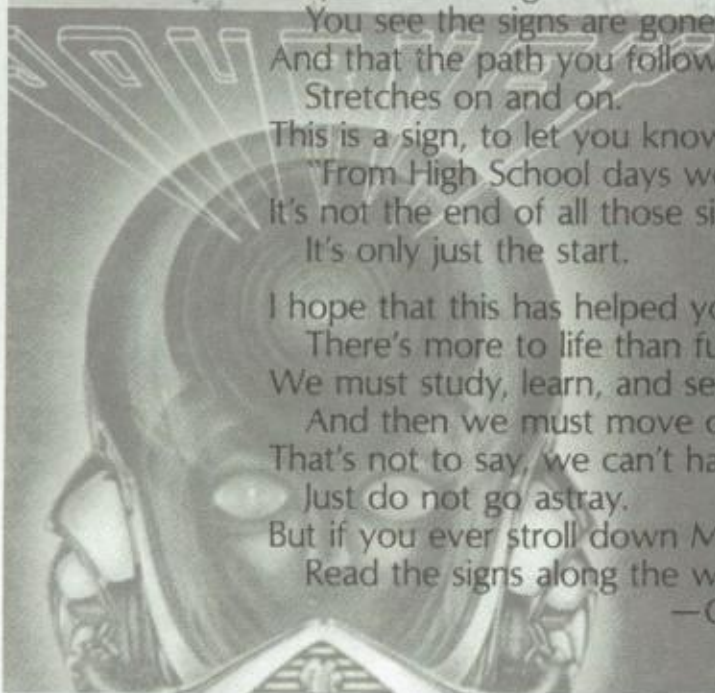

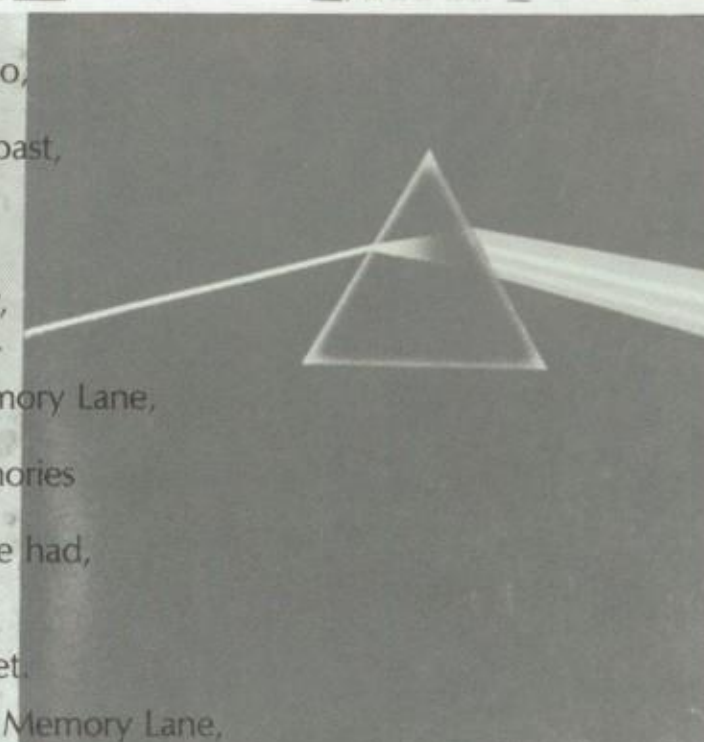

Next, take a stroll down Memory Lane,
Reading all the signs
That recall these special memories
And these special times.
Think of all the friends you've had,
And all of those you met.
Think of all the special ones.
And those you won't forget.

As you're strolling down this Memory Lane,
You see the signs are gone,
And that the path you follow,
Stretches on and on.

This is a sign, to let you know that,
"From High School days we part."
It's not the end of all those signs,
It's only just the start.

I hope that this has helped you see
There's more to life than fun.
We must study, learn, and set our goals,
And then we must move on.
That's not to say, we can't have fun,
Just do not go astray.
But if you ever stroll down Memory Lane,
Read the signs along the way.

Sophomore Officers

dystick sales they have serviced the entire student body with a sense of school spirit and pride.

In addition, the officers selected a class ring company to provide the rings of this year. They sponsored a contest to further unify their class with rings having a single mascot. Three free rings were given to the top two sophomore sellers throughout the year.

The officers would like to thank the Sophomore Class for their support in making this year a special one. None of this would have been possible without our wonderful advisors: Mrs. Kellner and Mr. Cirrincione.

Year to year I change
Like a chameleon
in a neverending universe of colors.
Leaving my home challenging
breaking new horizons.
New to all but the young
strange to the old.
A continual wave
of peaks and valleys
Silent at one time
piercing at others
Living shortly running mad
silently ending;
I'm a fad.

Freshmen Officers

Since this year's freshmen class moved up to the High School a year earlier than previous classes, it was quite a learning experience.

The class of '90 started off on the right foot by taking 2nd place for the Homecoming Float competition in October. (next to the Seniors) This successful project really boosted their spirits and was quite an accomplishment for the freshmen class.

After working hard on this project, the freshmen began to expand their treasury by sponsoring various fundraisers. Freshmen sold candy and operated several bake good sales throughout the year.

As we look back on our past,
we know the memories we've made here were meant to last.
Dances, football games, teachers, friends,
Parties, proms, clubs and new trends,
For these are the memories which will last a lifetime.
These are the years we will miss sometime.
For all these memories will be a sad good-bye,
For these memories make us both laugh and cry.
These years in my heart will ever gold remain
For never in our lives will we get the chance again,
To have many friends that will ever be so close to us,
all at once
To share our secrets amongst them,
To make new friends ...
... and to pioneer together that which was never ventured.

CLOCKWISE starting above: If you're happy & you know it sing out loud; Having a kicked back relaxing meal; "It's not a scratch it's lip gloss"; "I've told you that I didn't want my picture taken!"

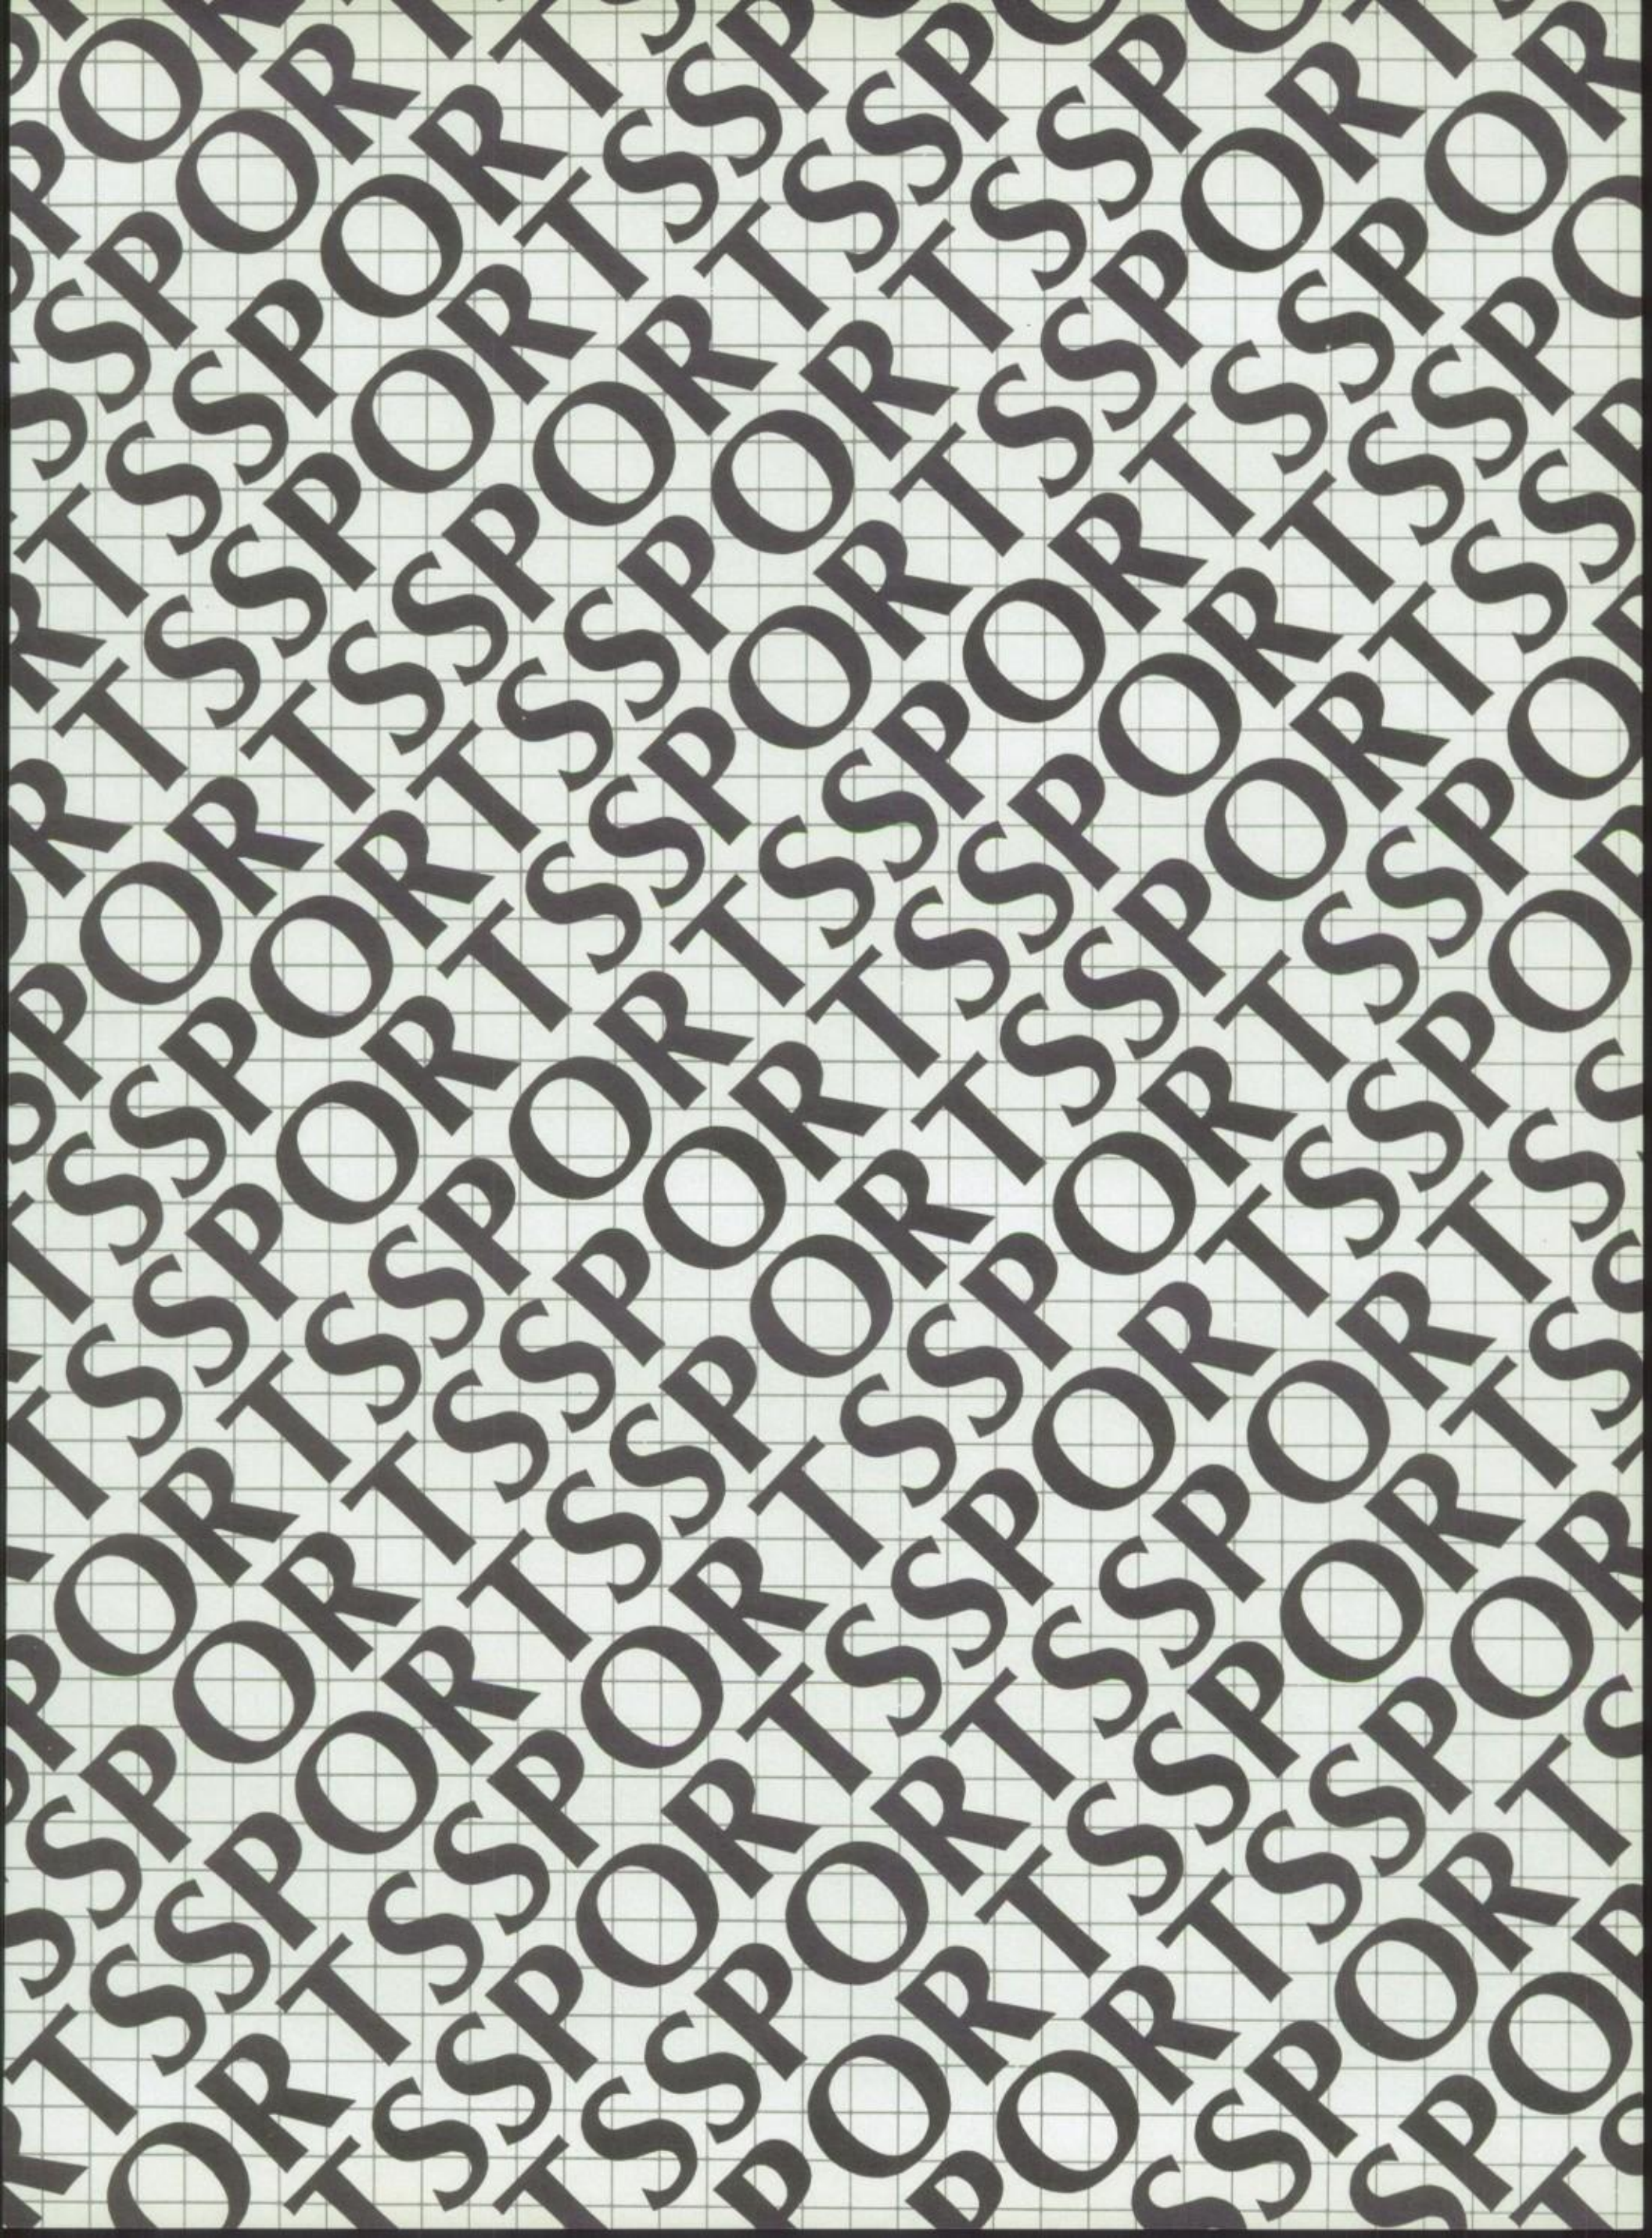

CLOCKWISE starting above: Finding unidentifiable creatures; "I hope this chair isn't taken"; creating a shrunken monster; on the count of three you'll all act like chickens; true beauty comes also from within.

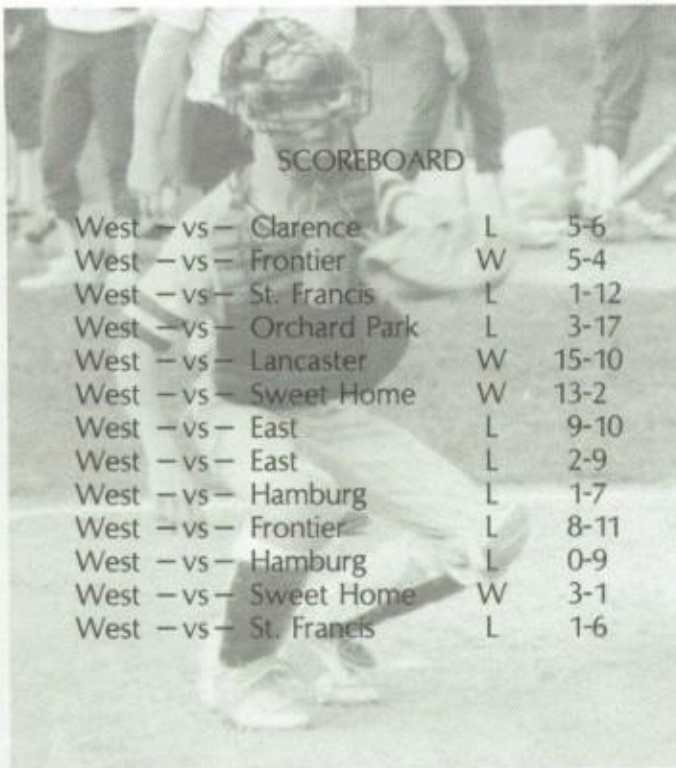

All the weeks of long daily practices,
 The sweaty palms and knotted stomachs
 Are signs athletes in all sports at one time or another experience.
 Anyone who has ever had the opportunity to have a competitive streak, I'm sure, has experienced at least once the excitement of winning and the despair of losing.
 Sometimes we forget the fun we're supposed to be having but soon remember it's only a game.
 The friendships we build with our teammates during the season helps us operate as a single unit not just as individuals.
 All this and more helps enhance the joy of competing.

A teacher is a special kind of person.
A teacher has many different roles to play at all times of the day.
They must be a discipliner, a judge, and a friend.
A teacher needs to be able to understand as well as to be understood.
A teacher needs to know how to talk as well as how to listen.
Above all the qualities, a teacher should possess a love for conveying knowledge to those eager to learn as well as those who aren't so eager.
A teacher must be able to make learning exciting, for they are responsible to reach many different students and in them bestill the seed of knowledge.

Mystical Adventure Surrounds "The Hobbit"

Hobbits are dwarf-like creatures who feel there is no time for adventure. However, one particular hobbit, Bilbo Baggins (Tim Roberts), changed this myth. Under the direction of Mr. Peter Wolfe, many students shared Bilbo Baggins' adventure in J.R.R. Tolkien's "The Hobbit." And as Mr. Wolfe commented, "Tim Roberts as the Hobbit tied the whole play together."

Here is the tale that Bilbo played out on West's stage. The story began at the house of Bilbo Baggins, where Galdalf the Great Wizard (Bill Berryman) told him of the adventure. The goal of his adventure was to lead thirteen dwarfs to capture a treasure that had been guarded by the Dragon Smaug (Boris Kolnevok), a large (inflatable) smoking dragon who lived in the Lonely Mountain.

Their travels through Mirkwood Forest were hindered by Goblins who in a fierce battle, chased the dwarfs through their caverns. Dori (Annette Davino), a dwarf, accidentally dropped Bilbo in a cavern. Subsequently, Bilbo met Gollum (Jeff Milliron), a slimy, frog-like creature. In the cavern, he found "The Ring of Power" which made him invisible and aided in his escape.

Their last encounter in the Mirkwood Forest was with the Elven Queen (Leigh Misechok) and her guards. They captured Bilbo Baggins and the dwarfs and put them into a dungeon.

Gandalf the Wizard reappeared in the fifth scene and told the Queen that she and her guards should cooperate with the dwarfs and Bilbo to capture the treasure.

Thorin (Rich Curren), the leader of the dwarfs, slayed Smaug, thus gaining the treasure and ending another successful dramatic adventure at West.

by Tammi Rovnak

CLOCKWISE starting above: What happened to my face? Alright, what switch should we pull?; Don't worry, I'll protect you; Queen of all Queens; Mr. Wolfe's pensive look; Here, I'll hit him with this; After you are done with this there are some fences to be done.

Oliver

This Spring's theater production directed by Mr. Wolfe and Miss Giambrone was performed on West's stage March 11-14. The story takes place on the streets of London. Oliver (Michael Mayes) is sold by Mr. Bumble (William Berryman) to Mr. Sowerberry (Tony Cardenuto) the local funeral director, who intends to use the boy as a mute for children's services. Oliver soon escapes and is befriended on the streets by the Artful Dodger (Jeffrey Kwitowski) and Fagin (Jeffrey Milliron) who show him the ways of a pickpocket. Oliver finally feels loved when he meets Nancy (Colette Blewis).

Oliver is captured during his first attempt at picking pockets. His intended victim, Mr. Brownlow (Tom O'Neill) feels a strong attraction for the little waif and has Oliver released into his custody. At last the boy has a real home. Paradise does not last long for Oliver. He is dragged back to Fagin's Hideout by Nancy and Bill Sikes (James Dier).

Meanwhile, Brownlow has come to the conclusion that Oliver is the exact image of his lost daughter, and when Nancy comes by with the promise to return the boy, Brownlow readily agrees to meet her at midnight on London Bridge.

Bill suspects that Nancy has turned on him and follows her. He confronts her, kills her, and attempts to escape with Oliver. The escape is thwarted, Nancy is revenged and Oliver is reunited with his grandfather. Oliver's search for love is ended.

Acenes staff — ask yourself these questions. Does anyone appreciate all the effort and sacrifice it took to put this yearbook together? Will it be read, reread, memorized, scrutinized, paraphrased, torn apart, placed carefully in secure places and be the spark to ignite many happy memories? Have you really recorded the good times? The answer is yes. You could not have done a better job. You have done your best and it shows. You were a team that no one ever cheered for or put up scoreboards to. Why do we do this? Julie and Laurie — what am I going to do without you two. My arms are still red from all that hitting. The more we thought the less we laughed — it's a good thing those were rare occasions. MEMORIAL

Roxanne L. Schueler

AS I AM

This day all unexplored, belongs to me
To me, to pattern as I choose,
The end results shall all be mine
No matter if I win or lose.
The trifles that come crowding in
Can neither vex nor irritate
So long as I have cognizance
That I am maker of my fate.
I find no satisfaction in,
Pretense behind a fulgent sham,
The mirror in my heart gives me
A true reflection as I am.
But this is balm, that I, far less
Than just a tiny grain of sand,
Can lift my heart to Him for help,
And know that He will lend a hand.

ACENES, 87

GOODBYE

My friend, what is there left to say?
Together, we've travelled a long, long way.
We've shared so much — the good and bad,
I smile at the great times we've had.
I could never have asked for a better friend —
You stayed with me from beginning to end.
The time has come — it's time to part
But you'll always have a special place in my heart.

I'll never forget all the things we shared
When they turned away, I knew you cared
"Thank you" is the very best I know
For all the love for you I have to show
So thanks my friend, for every smile
For sharing my long, lonely "dreamer's mile"
I'll always care, my friend, for you
No matter who I'm with, or what I do.
